Three Will Go to Penitentiary. Grand Jury Indicts Twenty-Six.

The Hickman term of Fulton Circuit Court finished business Saturday. The grand jury was in session until Saturday afternoon trying to finish their work, but failed. Court is in session this week at Fulton.

The following cases were disposed of here the latter part of last week.

Ellen Knowles, who killed her husband in Hickman three weeks ago was indicted for wilful murder and her bond fixed at $500. She made bond. Both are negroes. The woman hit her husband a rap on the head with a single tree fracturing the skull, from which he died the day following.

Joe Brown, a negro drayman, was tried for the killing of an other negro, "Red" Foster, a Memphis negro. The jury gave him six years and one day in the pen. The killing occurred in Hickman at the home of the defendant, and was the result of a social game of craps. Joe used a six-shooter on his victim.

Joe Trice, colored, was found guilty of forgery and given from six to seven years at Eddyville. He forged a check on Geo. H. Evans for $185, but the bank detected the crime before cashing it. It was a poorly executed job of forgery and Trice was easily convicted.

Andrew Beatty, a negro, a victim of racial weakness, allowed himself to be caught with the goods on an chicken stealing. The crime was grand larceny and he was sentenced to serve a year and one day in the pen.

The suit of Dr. J. M. Hubbard vs. the Fiscal Court, involving the matter of putting a county highway engineer back on the job, was dismissed at plaintiff's cost.

C. T. Bondurant vs. Ford Maddox, continued.

R. J. (Banta) Hill, carrying concealed deadly weapon, fined $50, 40 days in jail and disbarred for two years, and bond forfeited.

Hickman Building & Loan Association vs. Thos. Bondurant et al, suit dismissed without prejudice.

Bert Wallace, malicious shooting, hung jury. Trouble occurred at a dance in the bottom a few weeks ago. Bert shot a man in the arm and a stray shot killed a horse for Tom Henton.

Osell Haynes was tried for forgery, resulting in a hung jury. Mr. Haynes a short time ago tried to commit suicide in the county jail by drinking a quantity of disinfectant. He is alleged to have forged a small check using the name of Green Walker, of West Hickman.

J. H. Millet vs. Mrs. Vera Peck, dismissed without prejudice.

Ben Lattus vs. Steve Stahr, dismissed without prejudice.

Susie Davis vs. Jas. Davis, divorce granted.

John Creed vs. Horace Wheatley, sued for undue judgment for defendant.

Jolly Hoop Co. vs. Ed Barney, a suit over some lower bottom timber, judgment for plaintiff.

Handsome Little Baptist Church Erected by W. Hickman Folks.

This is a picture of the new West Hickman Baptist church, completed only a short time ago, and is a splendid monument to the enthusiasm and progress of this young but growing congregation. Rev. J. B. Hunsley, the present pastor, succeeded Rev. W. L. King, to whom a great amount of credit is due for this handsome new church home. Rev. Hunsley is "making good," and is given a packed house at all of his services. The attendance at this church, is no doubt, the largest in Hickman.

Steamer Lusitania Torpedoed; 1201 People Drowned or Killed.

The great Cunard line steamer, the Lusitania, was torpedoed just 10 miles off the coast of Ireland Friday afternoon and 1201 persons were drowned, including 120 American citizens.

The total number of survivors was placed at about 700. The Cunard company in a revised list of those aboard stated that there were 1,251 passengers and 651 crew, a total of 1,901.

All the evidence goes to show that the first-class and many of the second-class passengers had such confidence in the ability of the Lusitania, to remain afloat after she received the first blow that they did not concern themselves about taking to the boats or even providing themselves with life preservers.

When the passengers did realize that the Lusitania was doomed they found that most of the boats on the port side were so jammed because of the great list of the vessel that they could not be lowered, and the last seen of them by the more fortunate passengers who had secured places in the starboard boats, or who had jumped overboard and had been picked up, they were lined on the sloping decks awaiting their fate, doubtless even then believing that with land so close they would still be saved.

However the torpedoes had torn such gaping holes in the liner that she did not remain afloat for more than 20 minutes, and the call for help which the wireless sent out, although answered quickly, could not bring the rescuing steamers in time to be of any service.

There is much difference of opinion as to how many torpedoes struck the ship and as to whether an explosion of her boilers followed. In fact, after the first torpedo hit the Lusitania forward the crew were busy getting to the stations, and the passengers who escaped, in getting to the boats and providing themselves with life belts. In shipping circles and among many survivors the impression prevails that more than one German submarine attacked the Lusitania and that two or more torpedoes found their mark.

How the Lusitania was sunk, the story of the fight to save the passengers, the struggle for life in the water after the giant liner disappeared—the story of what happened in the great marine tragedy, was related by the survivors. While there is much conflict in their narratives from them have been gathered facts which, when assembled from a story which stands only second to that of the Titanic disaster.

The Lusitania was steaming along on the last leg of her voyage to Liverpool. It was about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The day was clear and calm. The sun was shining brightly. It was a beautiful day at sea.

In the morning the speed of the vessel had been reduced by Capt. Turner when off Pastuer, probably in fear of scattered mines. Most of the saloon passengers were at lunch. Some had quit the saloon and were on deck. A majority of the second class and steerage passengers also were on deck.

Passengers lolled in steeper chairs or played at quoits. Other lined the railings, peering anxiously over the water. For there was much nervous tension due to the ever-present peril of submarine attack.

On the bridge a sharp lookout was being kept.

Sharp at 2:05 the signal was given from the bridge: "Full speed ahead."

The liner plunged forward under the new impetus. The whole of the ship's company seemed to feel the thrill of the new movement. Passengers on the deck flocked to the side.

Suddenly a cry arose from the scattered points of vantage on the starboard side, "There's a submarine."

About a thousand yards off the starboard bow passengers saw breaking the submerged surface the sleek hull of a dreaded underwater craft. It rested for a moment on the surface, then as quickly submerged.

The apparition was the only warning given. There was an impetuous rush to the side of the ship. On the saloon deck faces reflected more of curiosity than fear. Among the other classes aboard excitement fast gained hold and panic was incipient. Anxious eyes were turned to the bridge.

The first flush of the excitement had just passed when there arose a more ominous cry from the watchers:

"There's a torpedo coming straight at us."

From the point where the submarine sank a great white streak—the track of the torpedo, was traced. It was aimed slightly ahead of the Lusitania, but as the liner plunged forward at a great speed, the track seemed to veer more and more toward a point amidship until it struck fair between the first and second funnels with a dull thud.

There was a great tearing of metal, followed by a terrific explosion in the stoke hole. The ship trembled from stem to stern. The deck seemed to rise under foot. Then the liner settled as if

"A SAFE PLACE TO TRADE"

It doesn't make any difference how the fashion originated, the fact remains that candidates for office this year are making liberal use of placards bearing their picture and announcement. But it does look like a small trick for folks who oppose this or that candidate to stoop the form of vandalism which is being practiced here, viz: slashing and defacing the picture of the candidate with knives and paint. The crime is too small to classify, but it is in a class with "possum hunting."

"PIED" THE PRESS.

The earthquake that struck here on Tuesday of last week did more damage than this paper mentioned. Besides jarring brick loose on the jail and the Hopson residence, the concrete walk in front of the Hoper residence on Walnut street, was broken to pieces and the big printing press in this office was thrown out of order and required some time to adjust. —Lake Co. News.

At the term of court in Hickman last week, it must be acknowledged by friends and foe that Commonwealth's Attorney H. J. Moorman did his whole duty. It is a matter of court record that he prosecuted vigorously and fearlessly, notwithstanding he is a candidate for re-election, and might have increased his chances of election by "shying" a little in certain instances. But Mr. Moorman heaved to the line, regardless of where the chips fell. This is no more than any prosecutor should do—but it is more than some have done. Rigid adherence to duty will probably lose the influence of the cliques and public offenders, but, as we see it, will win for him the plaudits of law-abiding citizens, which in the end will make him a formidable factor in the race.

One week from next Saturday—May 22nd—we are to vote on the proposition of bonding the county for $100,000 for the purpose of building gravel roads. It is well nigh time that you were making up your mind as to how to vote. The Courier, in fact all the papers of the county, have been generous with space in the hope that our readers might learn the facts in connection with this important matter. Personally, we endorse the proposed issue, but we have tried to give it publicity in an unbiased manner. Both "Taxpayer" and the "Man Who Knows" have had their say, followed by Mr. Burrell, the U. S. Govt. expert, who is doubtless authority on this subject. To us, this is purely a business matter, and not one of sentiment. It is either good for all of us—or its bad for all of us; therefore, we should strive to consider the proposition in a fair minded way. Neither side should wilfully misstate the facts, but reason together. For instance: it is wrong to say that only one road will be graveled or that all of them will be graveled. The facts are, a hundred miles can be metalled for the money to be spent. Some fellow may say they ought to gravel all the roads or none. This is poor argument, because statistics show that when other counties have graveled a part of their highways, everybody liked it so well that the rest of them were soon graveled, too. A hundred miles of graveled road in this county would serve more or less three-fourths of our citizens, as it would be impossible to go to any town in the county without making part of the trip on a hard road. If we turn the proposition down, we just simply go ahead and pay 5c a year on the $100 for building gravel roads in other counties, and continue to keep up our own roads at our own expense. If we vote the gravel roads, the rich counties of the State pay half our bill. May the 22nd is the day for a final expression from you as to which you prefer.

FRANK DIETZEL MUST SERVE LIFE SENTENCE.

Frank Dietzel, the 21 years old son of Herman Dietzel, the wealthy harness shop proprietor of Union City, must serve the remainder of his life in the penitentiary, at Nashville, for having murdered George Wehman, (a former citizen of Hickman and an uncle of Jim Pyle's), the 55 year old eccentric painter, whose body was found in an abandoned well 11 days after the killing, with a gun shot wound in the back of his head and with his roll of bills gone. Such was the decision of the supreme court of Tennessee in the case in an elaborate opinion handed down by Justice Trafton Green.

In closing the decree Judge ness met returning to Union City on the Proteanus road with his face concealed with the laprobe? Whence was this disguised individual coming except from the scene of the crime?

"Was the plaintiff in error paying his debts on the Sunday after the disappearance of Geo. Wehman? Do men ordinarily settle their obligations on Sunday? If plaintiff in error had money to pay his lodge dues prior to Sunday, why should he have waited to settle with his sister-in-law? If he only got the money on Saturday, July 11, where did it come from?"

"Why is no explanation offered as to its source?"

"Is it likely that the tailor could have been mistaken as to ror, perfectly familiar with the country, when making a search for the body of the deceased, omit to look into the wells along the lane connecting the Proteanus and Rockledge roads? Why should he have overlooked these wells and searched others, both going and returning?"

"Why should he have visited this remote locality on the day after the disappearance of Wehman? Why should he have been there on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, and days thereafter? What could have drawn this plaintiff in error to this lonesome lane on the days following the crime, except that mysterious and proverbial force that impels a murderer to return to the scene of iniquity or to the place where here, as in every case of circumstantial evidence, a possibility—a bare possibility—of mistake, we prefer to heed the expression of the jury and commute this sentence to life imprisonment. As thus modified, the judgment below will be affirmed."

In the courtroom with young Dietzel sat two brothers, and all three seemed to be satisfied with the opinion of the court. Frank Dietzel made no demonstration whatever when the final decree came down from the bench and he walked nonchalantly with the marshal from the courtroom to the jail.

NEGRO KILLS ANOTHER.

J. D. Watkins was fatally shot Sunday night during an altercation with Ed Crowder, at Fulton. The shooting is said to have grown out of attentions which Watkins was giving the wife of Crowder.

All parties are negroes, and it is said Crowder had warned Watkins about the women. They met Sunday night, when the trouble was renewed. Crowder shot Watkins three times—in the breast, side and abdomen. Watkins was removed to his boarding house on the south side, where he lingered until about 11 o'clock Monday and died.

BAD FIRE AT CLINTON.

The hotel known as the Henderson House, at Clinton, was destroyed by fire early Sunday morning. The building was owned by Mrs. Jerry M. Porter and valued at $8,000 with $1,000 on mortgage.

One of the rooms of the lower floor was occupied by the Clinton Gazette, owned by Mrs. E. J. Walker. The plant suffered a loss of $2,800. Mrs. Walker carried $2,000 insurance on the property.

The Porter Pottery company also had offices in the building which were destroyed.

It is said the fire originated in an old back stairway of the building about 11 o'clock Sunday morning, and by heroic work of the fire fighters the flames were under control at 7:30.

Today one of the rich men of the community asked me what I would sell him 100 pounds of Sugar for. I told him 16 pounds for a dollar. "But I want 100 pounds," "Makes no difference, I said, the price is the same, 16 1/2 cents a pound for 100 pounds and the wholesalers here ask us today 16.30 a pound for it." "Then how do you make a profit," said he. (Concerned for my profits, wasn't he?). Well, naturally, I don't pay these prices, but the margin of profit on sugar is small.

And then today I am asked, "why don't you tell the people you are selling sugar 16 lbs. for a dollar?" As if I don't. Anyway they certainly must know it, from the way the other fellows customers are coming to us for sugar. But here goes to tell it again. I am selling

Green covered the case with the following questions:

"What motive could a young man in the standing of the plaintiff in error have had seeking the company of an eccentric laborer like the deceased and driving him around over the country?"

"Could he have been up to anything good?"

"For what purpose did the plaintiff in error lure this rag on the night of July 11, and what did he do with it?"

"How did this laprobe become saturated with blood, and whose blood could it have been save that of the deceased?"

"Who else was on such terms with deceased as to induce the latter to take a midnight drive with him, and who but the plaintiff in error was it that the witness met returning to Union City on the Proteanus road with his face concealed with the laprobe? Could this $10 bill with its peculiar characteristics have been mistaken in a small deposit of only $50 accumulated by the tailor in a few days?"

"Is it possible that Burdick and his wife could have been mistaken as to the identity of the bill they had from the deceased?"

"Were two bills ever worn, torn and discolored in a manner so strikingly similar as the Burdick bill and the tailor's bill? Could one have been so torn and worn unless it had been carried with the others? Where could the bills have come from except from the red tobacco sack where George Wehman carried his roll?"

"Why did the plaintiff in error he has hidden his victim? Why should the prisoner have haunted this vicinity, as long as he was free?"

"Who can answer these questions we have propounded so as to exculpate Frank Dietzel from this murder? What explanation of these circumstances can be made to coexist with his innocence? If he can be exculpated, if there is such an explanation, why does he remain silent? Learned counsel have made a brave fight in his behalf, conducted with zeal and distinguished ability, but notwithstanding all they have said, of record before us, we are convinced of the guilt of the plaintiff in error. The circumstances seem to exclude every other reasonable hypothesis. "Nevertheless, since there is

School Notes

By Miss Virginia Gatten
County Supt.

Critchfield school closed with very interesting exercises held May 4th and 5th. The address to the graduating class was delivered by Prof. Blackard, of Fulton, and the diplomas presented by Prof. Redford Turner, who has had charge of this school since its organization. The following pupils received eighth grade diplomas: Claude Bruce, Mattie Pyburn, Lillie Austin and Willie Bryshale, Mary Turner and Willie Treves. It was a pleasure to attend these commencement exercises and note the progress this school has made in the past two years.

The annual exhibit of the work at the Fulton schools was held May 10th. A very large number of visitors viewed this unusually attractive and excellent display of the student's work. Every class room from the first grade through the high school was artistically decorated with all lines of school work, the quality of which reflected much credit upon Prof. Cheek and his efficient teachers.

Election of teachers for rural teachers will be held June 5th.

The commencement exercises of Hickman College will begin on Sunday, May 23rd, at which time the baccalaureate sermon will be delivered at the court house by the Rev. Edward S. Doan, rector of St. George's church, of Louisville.

As the honor is tendered to the various churches of Hickman in rotation, it falls this year to the Episcopal church. They are indeed fortunate in securing Rev. Doan for this occasion; he is a big, broad-minded, progressive, masculine man and his address will be interesting and instructive.

DEPUTY TOM LEDUKE KILLS DEZ TRAUGHER.

A special from Tiptonville, Tuesday, says: About 6:30 o'clock Deputy Sheriff Tom S. LeDuke shot and killed Dez Traugher while the latter was resisting arrest at his home near Reelfoot, in the Sixth district of Lake county.

Reports of the killing are meager, but the best information is that Officer LeDuke had a warrant for Traugher on a charge of selling whisky, and went to his (Traugher's) home to make the arrest. Upon approaching Traugher and telling him that he had a warrant for him, Traugher is said to have told the officer that he could not arrest him, and forbade his coming into his home. LeDuke persisted in advancing, urging the angry man to surrender, whereupon, it is said, Traugher slapped the officer in the face and made an attempt to draw his gun. LeDuke quickly drew his pistol and fired three times, only one bullet taking effect, which was about the ear and penetrated the brain. Traugher reeled and fell and was dead when reached.

Officer LeDuke gave himself up to Sheriff Hall, who rushed to the scene of the killing.

Traugher was perhaps thirty-five years of age and leaves a wife and several children. He owned two farms in the Reelfoot neighborhood and it is said had engaged in the sale of liquor for several years. LeDuke has been a deputy sheriff in the Sixth District under Sheriff Hall and also under ex-Sheriff Haynes and is looked upon as a peaceable officer.

The war is only costing England at the rate of ten and a half million dollars per day.

Without the slightest degree of conceit or vanity, Judge R. B. Platt may well be proud of the record he is making in the capacity of circuit judge. At Hickman last week, things moved along smoothly and the court transacted a large volume of business. The judge never once slighted his official duties, although he knew that his opponents were on the ground and heating the brush in a lively manner for the purpose of getting his "political scalp." If Judge Platt's canvass is to be a thorough one, it is up to his friends to push it. He seems to consider his judicial obligations more momentous than his future personal interests.

CHURCH OF CHRIST NOTES.

Mother's Day was all that could be desired in a service at the church last Sunday morning. A splendid program had been arranged and carried out. We were favored by an excellent vocal solo by Miss Elizabeth Reeves and a fine violin solo by Miss Matheny. A splendid selection by ladies voices completed the special music for the morning. Each one present were provided with a rose to wear in honor of the day.

The services next Lord's day promises to be most interesting and they will be more so if you will come and do YOUR part and help, as the Bible school is growing by leaps and bounds. Aside from the younger classes, the fine class of men in regular attendance and also the great class of women make attending worth while.

The theme for the sermon next Sunday morning will be "Be-are." Come out and hear it. Splendid music is to be enjoyed, but most of all, a full open hearted welcome awaits you when you come in, while you are there, and when you leave, with a big round invitation for you to come again.

At the Crystal on Sunday night the service will open with showing pictures of a trip round the world. These are magnificent photographs of a very high order of the world's most celebrated places. This will be followed by a song service and an old fashioned sermon dealing with the theme, "Barriers on the Road to Hell." Come and bring your friends and enjoy a most enjoyable evening with us.

Growing out of the sinking of the Lusitania and loss of American lives, the U. S. government has called a note to Germany on this subject. What this note contains has not been made public. Pres. Wilson, however, also said that the matter could be adjusted without war. IN MEMORIAM.

Hickman Lodge No. 761, F. & A. M., Hickman, Ky.
Our esteemed Brother, General Henry Austin Tyler, departed this life on April 26, 1915, in the 78th year of his life, at his home, at Oakwood Farm, near this city. Bro. Tyler was made a Master Mason, and soon after a Royal Arch Mason in his early manhood and has always held the order dear to his heart, as evidenced by his liberal gifts to this lodge and to the Masonic Widows and Orphans Home in Louisville, Ky., and for all of which we have a tender place in our hearts for him. As a soldier he was brave and untiring in his devotion to the cause of the South. As a citizen he always contended for that which he thought best, and contributed largely to Church and Educational work. He has gone to that hour from which no traveler returns but we feel that a reward awaits him there. Our profound sympathy is extended to his bereaved family and may the God of the universe watch over, comfort and protect them.

Italy's discretion and tardiness in entering the war, while it looks like a hold up of war-racked Austria, will prove to her a wiser act than a mad rush right into the faces of well loaded guns. It will at least leave her with the power of her manly men to utilize other wise than tilling trenches.

One of the delightful affairs of the week was a 500 party given by Mrs. E. M. Case Wednesday afternoon from 2 to 5. Her home was prettily decorated in roses and ferns. SHOOTING SCRAPE AT CLINTON.

A shooting occurred at Clinton Saturday night about 8 to 9 o'clock, when Edgar Weatherford, a local hunter, was shot by a man named Green. Weatherford was hit in the back and the bullet grazed the front of his abdomen, inflicting a flesh wound.

Green is a married man and a farmer at the waters. Weatherford is a single man, a member of a prominent family, but given somewhat to dissipation. It appears there had been some quarrel between Green and Weatherford of a domestic nature. Green went west some time since, it is said, to get rid of the trouble and Weatherford followed him, and Green then returned with his wife to Clinton.

Saturday night shortly after 8 o'clock Mrs. Green phoned her husband that Weatherford was in the back yard. The fact that he would go home as quick as he could took the fire. Mrs. Green left home and went to a neighbor's. As Green started home he picked up a piece of iron. As he reached his back yard he encountered Weatherford who, it is said, was under the influence of drink. Weatherford fired at Green, but Green knocked the pistol up with his hands and then struck Weatherford with the piece of iron, knocking him down. The latter, then tried the shot which grazed the abdomen of Green. Weatherford was seen when he beat up when the fight was over.

TYLER WILL PROBATED. CHURCH REMEMBERED.

The will of the late Gen. H. A. Tyler was probated Monday. The gist of the disposition of his estate is as follows:

I will and bequeath unto St. Paul's Episcopal church, of Hickman, Ky., lots Nos. 99 and 101 of postoffice building and Barrett & Ledford building. One half of the gross rents thereof to be paid to the Rector in charge of said church, as part of his salary, and the residue of said rents, after paying all taxes, etc., to be paid to the Ladies Guild of said church, to be used by them in keeping St. Paul's church in good repair, and such deeds of charity to the poor of the city of Hickman and vicinity as they may deem necessary. Should the officers of said church fail to provide a sum sufficient with this bequest to pay the Rector a salary of $1000 per annum, then this bequest to become void.

I will to my dear friend, Marie Brevard, lot No. 3 (occupied by Smith & Anberg) and the east one-third of lot No. 17 (occupied by T. T. Bondurant), together with all other real estate which I may possess.

I will the entire residue of my estate, of every kind and description, to my son, Robt. A. Tyler, absolutely, to use and dispose of as he may direct. Should, however, my son die before I do, then said estate shall go to the Masonic Widows and Orphans Home of Kentucky.

Robt. Tyler was named in the will as executor without bond. The instrument was dated June 3, 1912, and witnessed by Dr. J. M. Hubbard and H. C. Helm.

sores wounded. A great column of steam and water rose and coal and wood splinters were hurled high and fell in an avalanche on the upper deck.

The liner appeared to falter then steadied as the helm was swung over and her course was directed for land.

But before she could answer to her helm a second torpedo pierced her bow. About four minutes intervened between the two. Some passengers state that not only a second but a third torpedo struck the ship. It is generally believed, however, that the explosion of the second torpedo was mistaken for the impact of a third.

It was while the ship was making 21 knots with a heavy list to starboard that the order was given immediately after the second missile struck to lower the boats.

Among the saloon passengers calm prevailed. It was the generally accepted idea that the Lusitania would float. Cool heads counseled and the more timorous passengers went about their departure leisurely, some even remaining at table until luncheon was concluded.

Below the scene enacted was widely different. Women, many of them with babies in their arms, became panic stricken. Officers and passengers did their best to calm them.

Fumes arising from the explosion permeated the ship and many fell unconscious to the deck. Meanwhile the crew struggled valiantly to lower the boats. But, due to the high speed of the vessel and the heavy list, the boats fouled the davits and could not be swung out to clear the side.

Finally upward of 20 boats were put into the water. Several were swamped when they struck the water, others were capsized in the swelling sea.

Life belts had been distributed among the passengers, but many passengers did not wait to equip themselves with the preservers. Some jumped over the side and were knocked unconscious when they struck, others leaped with life belts on and swam to overturned boats, there to await the coming of others winners to right the craft.

Slowly the Lusitania filled forward and her bow dipped deeper into the water.

Finally the big liner slowed down and seemed to settle as if she had run her race and was spent.

The wireless apparatus still sputtered its call for help. On the bridge stood Captain Turner with his executive officer beside him, directing the hopeless fight. In the water men and women struggled for their lives. Five boats remained entangled at the davits.

With a final lunge forward the Lusitania sank.

Cadillac Motor Cars Are Less Costly

At list price plus the freight, than any car of any make which is sold at a discount.

"DISCOUNT," as applied to automobiles sold at retail represents the difference between what the seller of the car says it is worth and the price which he is compelled to sell it for, constituting strong evidence of the car's inferiority.

The Two Leading Cars

of the world, each in its own class, have been always sold at the price which the manufacturer set, after allowing only a reasonable profit to himself and to his dealer representatives. Any "discount" a purchaser gets on a car represents, not value but depreciation, and depreciation is the largest single item of expense incident to the operation of a motor car.

Rebuilt or renewed Cadillac Motor Cars are a better value than any new car selling at the same price.

elapsd since the first torpedo struck her.

She went down by the head.

As the big liner took her final plunge most of those remaining on deck leaped. Some struck the sides. Others jumped clear and struck away.

It was here that most of the lives were lost.

A swirling maelstrom closed in, sucking with it hundreds upon hundreds of lives. A great hole seemed to open up where the Lusitania had been and into it there poured those who, twenty minutes before had been chatting gayly on the gleaming decks of the greatest steamship on the Atlantic. Five boats went down with the ship.

From the shore, seen through glasses in the hands of one of the coast guard, there appeared to rise a curtain of vapor and smoke which hung low, obscuring the scene. When the veil lifted the ship was gone.

From what survivors say, it is safe to assume that nearly every one in the water within a radius of 100 yards of the ship when it sank was caught in the under-drag.

Many of the boats which were overturned had been righted with great difficulty. To others still bottom up swimmers clung helplessly. Many clung to wreckage. Boats cruised about, picking up the survivors.

First of the rescue boats to arrive was a trawler. Quickly the first boat were emptied and then shoved off with oars to pick up other survivors.

When the last of the survivors were taken aboard the ships sped for land, most of them to Queens-town.

First aid was administered on board, but still many of those rescued were beyond help and died on the way in.

Tugs and trawlers remained on the scene to pick up the bodies of those drowned.

Many rescued were severely injured from the effects of the explosion, which scattered steel fragments broadcast.

Capt. Turner went down with his ship, but was picked up three hours later. He had been able to save himself with the aid of a life belt and his expertness in swimming.

The Lusitania was one of the largest of transatlantic liners, as well as one of the speediest. She was built in Glasgow in 1906. She was 785 feet long. Her gross tonnage was 32,500 and her net tonnage 9,145. Everything about the Lusitania was of colossal dimension. Her rudder weighed 65 tons. She carried three anchors of 10 tons each. The main frame and beams, placed end to end, would extend 30 miles.

Washington, May 8.—Chairman Stone of the senate foreign relations committee made this statement:

"The tragedy is, of course, to be profoundly regretted. If the reports as to the loss of lives are true the sympathies of the civilized world will be deeply stirred. But for us it seems to me that good sense dictates that we keep our heads until we get our bearings. It is a bad time to get rattled and act impulsively. 'Don't rock the boat.'"

"Without expressing an opinion as to our relations to this event or as to our duty in the premises, there are some facts we cannot overlook and are bound to consider. We cannot overlook the fact that the Lusitania was a British ship flying the British flag and subject at any time to be put into the actual naval service of the government. Indeed, it is stated, that at the time she was attacked she was carrying military reservists to England for service in the British army."

"True, there were American citizens aboard, but it must not be forgotten that they went aboard a belligerent with full knowledge of the risk and after official warning by the German government. When on board a British vessel they were on British soil. Was not their position substantially equivalent to being within the walls of a fortified city? If American citizens stay within a city besieged or threatened and the enemy attacks, what should our government do if our citizens should be injured? I express no opinion at this time. I am merely suggesting reasons why we should maintain our equilibrium, and not 'rock the boat,' until we know what we are about."

"Aside from the possible loss of American lives, let us ask ourselves just where we come in. At the present moment and with the light now before me, I confess that it appears to me that from our standpoint as a neutral nation the Gulf light case presents a more delicate and serious complication than the case of the Lusitania."

Rheumatism is a disease characterized by pains in the joints and in the muscles. The most common forms are Acute and Chronic Rheumatism, Rheumatic Headaches, Sciatic Rheumatism and Lumbago. All of these types can be helped absolutely by applying some good Liniment that penetrates. An application of Sloan's Liniment two or three times a day to the affected part will give instant relief. RUSSIA'S WHEAT CROP.

Last year Russia raised over 800,000,000 bushels of wheat, which was only exceeded by the crop in the United States. Ordinarily, Russia raises the largest wheat crop of any country in the world and her exports to foreign countries through the Dardanelles total nearly 200,000,000 bushels. So far this year no shipments have been made through these important straits, whereas last year over 175,000,000 bushels passed through. Naturally, with these conditions known to the grain trade, speculation has a spasm, every time the news comes that the Dardanelles have been attacked and its forts reduced.

GUNS SHOOT 20 MILES.

Startling facts came out of the report made now and then about the European war. Here is one which is of more than passing interest. "The Germans threw shells into the town of Dunkirk, France, from across the Belgium border twenty miles away. The explosives plowed great fissures in the earth, demolished and destroyed life. If the Germans should occupy Calais, they could probably throw shells into the English town of Dover on the other side of the straits. Possibly the guns that threw shells into Dunkirk were some of the new kind it has been reported the kump works at Essen were preparing that would create a surprise. Yet what was done could have been accomplished with the forty-two centimeters used at Antwerp.

A BIT OF PHILOSOPHY FROM
THOUGHTS FOR THE DISCOURAGED FARMER
BY JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY.

There's been a heap o' rain,
but the sun's out to-day,
And the clouds of the wet spell
is all cleared away,
And the woods is all the greener, and the grass is greener still;
It may rain again to-morrow, but I don't think it will.

Then let us, one and all, be contented with our lot;
The June is here this morning, and the sun is shining hot
Oh! let us fill our hearts up with the glory of the day,
And banish ev'ry doubt and care and sorrow far away!
Whatever be our station, with Providence for guide,
Such fine circumstances ort to make us satisfied;
For the world is full of roses, and the roses full of dew,
And the dew is full of heavenly love
thats drips fer me and you.

Starts Your Liver Without Making You Sick And Can Not Salivate.

Every druggist in town—your druggist and everybody's druggist has noticed a great falling off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason: Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it, while Dodson's Liver Tone is perfectly safe and gives better results," said a prominent local druggist. Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle costs 50 cents, and if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, you have only to ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work! Take Dodson's Liver Tone instead and feel fine, full of vigor and ambition.

SEC. 4.—Be it further enacted, That it shall not be unlawful for any person to fish in Reelfoot Lake for his own use or for the market, by means of seines, trot lines, set nets, pound-nets, or other like devices; provided that every person who shall so fish for market or in any other manner on said lake, shall be required to pay a privilege tax as set forth in this act, namely the sum of twenty-five cents for and

AFTER SUFFERING TWO LONG YEARS

Mrs. Aselin Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Minneapolis, Minn.—"After my little one was born I was sick with pains in my sides which the doctors said were caused by inflammation. I suffered a great deal every month and grew very thin. I was under the doctor's care for two long years without any benefit. Finally after repeated suggestions to try it we got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking the third bottle of the Compound I was able to do my housework and today I am strong and healthy again. RESOLUTIONS IN HONOR OF LATE GENERAL TYLER.

The Mayfield Camp 1219 of U. S. A. V. convened May 1st, preparatory to arranging for the reunion at Richmond, Va., June 1, 2 and 3, 1915, when the commander offered the following resolutions in honor of Gen. H. A. Tyler, who died in Fulton county, Ky., April 26, 1915, and moved their adoption by a rising vote.

Whereas, one of the most distinguished and courageous Confederate soldiers of the war between the States has passed from this stage of existence to biveone on God's eternal camping ground until the resurrection morn;

Therefore, be it resolved, That this illustrious soldier entered the war early in the beginning and faithfully discharged his duty to the Confederate cause with heroic fidelity until the flag went down in defeat at Appomattox Court House on the 9 day of April 1865.

Resolved further, That after having surrendered his metal sword, he returned to his peaceful but devoted home making the best citizen he well knew how by taking the sword of thought in his right hand, the helmet of reason upon his brow, and the breastplate of truth before him, he marched triumphantly to civil and financial victory, thereby enabling him to become a public benefactor in the way of erecting schools, churches and Confederate monuments, always being a liberal contributor to charitable purposes.

Resolved further, That he was a true patriot, a kind father, a devoted husband, a brave soldier and a living monument of charity.

Resolved further, That if ever a nationality went down in defeat with honor to itself, with honor to the country in which it existed and with honor to the cause of civil liberty, that nationality was the Southern Confederacy.

CRUTCHFIELD CITIZEN DIED SUDDENLY.

Robert Hicks a Confederate veteran and an old and esteemed citizen, died suddenly last Wednesday afternoon at Crutchfield. He lived two miles west of Crutchfield and carried a lady to the station to go off on the late afternoon train. The hurry incident to getting to the train affected his heart, which was weak, and he fell, dying in a few minutes.

Burial Friday at Rock Spring church.

TRY THIS NEXT TIME.

The next time a pretty girl or a well-dressed and agreeable stranger comes into your place of business soliciting advertising for a time table, or a hotel directory, or a church guide or any of the other "schemes" which may have been or may be worked on the merchants of this town, ask the solicitor to sit down for a moment. Then politely question him or her.

Ask how many copies are to be issued, how the distribution is to be effected, what guarantee is given that the full number will be printed and distributed as promised.

Then when these questions are answered, as they will be to your satisfaction, for the solicitor is glib with just that kind of answers ask a few more questions.

Ask what amount of money will be collected by the solicitor, how much the printer will charge for setting up the job, how much the distribution will cost and how long it will take the solicitor to fill the blank spaces.

Then do a little figuring. You will find that the solicitor expects to make a clear profit of at least $10 a day out of the town—perhaps more. The figures will surprise you.

Show your figures to the solicitor and while he is attempting to hem and haw, tell him that you will spend your $5 to $10 in the newspaper, where every purchaser in your territory will be sure to see your advertisement.

It will be discouraging to the grafter, but he will be gone the next day, so you need not worry.

Now if you could get the same value for your $5 or $10 that you get in the newspaper, the solicitor would be entitled to his $10 a day. But you don't get any value.

Advertising of that sort never paid anyone but the fellow who runs the scheme. In fact it isn't advertising at all, but a rank extortion.—Ex.

The Board of Aldermen, of Union City, met last week and acted on the proposition adopted by the citizens meeting at the court house recently to issue $15,000 for the erection in Union City of a city hall.

HOW A DEEP SEATED COUGH

And Sore Lungs Were Overcome by Vinol—Mr. Hillman's Statement of Facts Follows:

Camden, N. J.—"I had a deep-seated cough, a run-down system and my lungs were awfully weak and sore. I am an electrician by occupation and my cough kept me awake nights so I thought at times I would have to give up. I tried everything everybody suggested and had taken so much medicine I was disgusted."

"One evening I read about Vinol and decided to give it a trial. Soon I noticed an improvement. I kept on taking it and today I am a well man. The soreness is all gone from my lungs. I do not have any cough and have gained fifteen pounds in weight and I am telling my friends that Vinol did it." FRANK HILLMAN, Camden, N. J.

It is the curative, tissue-building influence of cod's liver oil by the blood-making, strength-creating properties of tonic iron, contained in Vinol, that made it so successful in Mr. Hillman's case."

We ask every person in this vicinity suffering from weak lungs, chronic cough, or a run-down condition of the system to try a bottle of Vinol on our guarantee to return your money if it fails to help you.

RATIONS FOR WORK HORSES AND MULES

A Standardbred at a Government Remount Depot.

(Paper 111) the U. S. Department of Agriculture.)

The selection of a ration for horses and mules in the South depends largely upon the kinds of feed available, the price of the feed, and the amount and character of the work. For a 1,000 or 1,200 pound horse at moderate work a daily ration of from 10 to 12 pounds of grain and from 12 to 14 pounds of hay should be ample. At light work the grain ration should be increased. For a horse at moderate work weighing from 1,000 to 1,200 pounds the following rations will be found satisfactory. These rations are to be divided into three feeds. Nearly one-half of the roughage should be fed at night and the remainder divided between the morning and noon feeds. The grain may be divided into three equal portions, to be fed morning, noon and night. Ten pounds oats, fourteen pounds mixed hay.

Ten pounds shelled corn or corn meal or twelve and one-half pounds ear corn or corn-and-cob meal; fourteen pounds cowpea hay.

Eight pounds shelled corn or corn meal or ten pounds ear corn or corn-and-cob meal; one pound cottonseed meal; ten pounds alfalfa hay; two quarts molasses.

Eight pounds shelled corn or ten pounds ear corn and cob meal, one and one-half pounds cottonseed meal; fourteen pounds mixed hay (alfalfa, timothy, etc.).

Six pounds shelled corn or corn meal or seven and one-half pounds ear corn or corn-and-cob meal, two pounds gluten, one and one-half pounds cottonseed meal, six pounds cowpea hay, ten pounds corn stover.

The above rations are offered as suggestions and will have to be altered to suit conditions. If an animal is not doing well and is thin in flesh add more grain.

It may be found desirable to feed ear corn instead of shelled corn or corn meal. The ear corn, if desirable, may be ground and fed as corn-and-cob meal. One hundred pounds of ear corn or corn-and-cob meal is equivalent to about eighty pounds of shelled corn or corn meal.

For horses at light work the grain in the above rations should be reduced and the roughage increased in amount. For wintering horses which have little, if any, work to do the foregoing rations may be used, with the grain reduced one-half or three-fourths, or the grain may be entirely eliminated if the hay is of good quality and the horses are easy keepers.

Salt should be provided so that the horse may have access to it daily. Horses should not be fed or watered when they are hot. If a horse comes in very hungry it is better to allow him to eat hay for half an hour before he is given his grain. If he takes the sharp edge off his appetite on hay he will take more time to eat his grain and will masticate it better. In hot weather horses should be watered in the morning, in the middle of the forenoon, before and after their dinner, and before and after their evening meal.

If possible, after the horses have finished their evening feed, they should be turned out in a lot where they can roll and get water at will during the night. This applies especially during hot weather.

The selection of a ration and general care of horses depends largely on local conditions, and the United States department of agriculture advises the farmer to get in touch with the county demonstration agent whenever he is in doubt regarding the best methods of handling stock. In case there is no county agent the farmer should write the state agricultural station for information.

COTTONSEED MEAL FOR EGGS

Substitute for Beef Scraps Should Be Kept Before Hens All the Time in a Self-Feeder.

(By F. C. HARE, Clemson Agricultural College.)

A dry mash for winter egg production in which cottonseed meal is used as a substitute for beef scraps to supply protein is made up as follows:

Cottonseed meal 100 pounds
Corn meal 50 pounds
Ground oats 50 pounds
Wheat bran 50 pounds
Wheat shorts 50 pounds
Ground lime rock 16 pounds
Ground charcoal 12 pounds
Salt 2 pounds

Keep it in the house before the hens all the time in a self-feeder, or in a low, flat box covered with slats or wire netting so the hens cannot scratch it out. The ground lime rock is fertilizer lime, not the burnt lime used for whitewashing. The ground charcoal can be left out if it cannot be readily obtained, but always add the salt.

This mash contains from 18 to 20 per cent protein, which makes it a food for egg production equal to the most expensive commercial egg mashes. It requires several days for the hens to become accustomed to this mash, but they soon develop a fondness for it and eat it greedily.

VINE PRUNING IN THE SOUTH

Proper Time to Work on Grapes is in Spring, Just Before Growth Starts—Leaves Stop Bleeding.

(By C. M. SCHULTZ.)

In the South the only time to prune the ordinary grapes is just before growth starts in the spring. Then the leaves will soon stop the bleeding. One spring in North Carolina the weather turned hot the first of March and the vines that had been pruned in the fall made shoots six inches long while those that had not been pruned hardly swelled the buds.

The last week in the month the mercury suddenly fell with a norther to 20 degrees above zero and the shoots on the pruned vines were frozen. After the freeze I pruned my grapes and had a normal growth, while those around me hardly got half a crop. I had learned this from seasons years before, when I had seen the same thing. But the Superannated must be pruned in November or December as it bleeds worse than the cluster grapes.

Sow Hog Lot to Artichokes.

Part of the hog lot should be sown to artichokes or rape. This forage crop will afford a large part of the living for a bunch of pigs. If they have shade and water, they will be apt to show growth and good health all summer. One ration a day of grain will be ample until fattening time in the fall.

Protection for Skunks.

The high prices paid for skunk fur has caused a great demand for skins and in some parts of the South the animals are being protected by wire fences built around their favorite haunts. The skunk ought to be protected because it is always feeding on the enemies of farm crops. In many states they are protected by law.

Cottonseed Meal to Hogs.

Cottonseed meal, if it is fed at all to hogs, must be given in limited quantities.

BEHIND the humor in this drawing we can read a little MORAL. Many folks are as SOFT as the snow man when the SUN of PROSPERITY beams down on them. They hold up a thin umbrella of GOOD INTENTIONS and cry: "See; we are playing safe. We're not spending more than we make." But the cloud SUDDENLY hides the sun. They are left a shapeless, melted mass. Then they are SORRY they didn't contract a steady, thorough BANKING HABIT.

ALONG SIMPLE LINES

NEWEST GOWNS DEVOID OF COMPLICATED DRAPERY.

Picot Edge Much Used Instead of a Hem—Jet Retains Its Popularity—Organdie Embroidered in Colors a Feature.

Simplicity in line is a strong feature, and it shows the straight path along which the winds are blowing. There is no complicated drapery or ornamentation. Naturally, the French designer uses more skill in the manipulation of material and effects are usually simpler than the methods when the American sewing woman goes to copy them.

One of the well-known Fifth avenue importing houses in New York said that it was no easy matter to rush out now gowns these days. The trick they turned in other times of taking an order for a frock on Saturday afternoon and delivering it on Wednesday morning was too difficult to contemplate now.

Most Economical of Any Blouse is Chiffon, Which May Be Combined With the Most Tailored of Street Suits, or Used to Land a Festive Tona to Fancy Costumes—This Blouse is Trimmed With Black Dots Embroidered on White Chiffon, and Red Embroidery.

The fashion for putting a picot edge everywhere has gained in importance, and when there are yards and yards of it on one frock time must be allowed for such work. And yet this trick of putting the tiny pointed edge instead of a hem contributes to the seeming simplicity of a frock.

Jet is used in quantities, as everyone expected. Jenny likes it well and puts it under rulle more than she does over it. There is a strong feeling for the styles of 1840 and 1870, both of which call for quantities of lace and artificial flowers. Often the latter is used under the former or to loop it up into the festoons which the empress of France liked. That 1840 pointed blouse, with its straight decolletage, also copied by Eugene to show her lovely neck and shoulders, is used by Callot as well as by other houses.

There is also the medieval decolletage, which is cut in a straight line across the collar bone and which is distressingly ugly. Cheruit and some of her followers almost discard the deep decolletage line and bring the frocks well up on the chest. The square front with the high back is smart.

Although the high collar is reckoned as a first fashion, the best houses went over the neck which is opened in a V in front, outlined by a handkerchief collar in a soft material. Organdie embroidered in colors is a feature of many gowns. It often extends from the neck to the waist, forming a vest, a double collar, and also a pair of turn-over cuffs. FROCKS OF COLORED LINEN Charming Models Are Being Shown Made Up in Variety of Styles That Seem Endless.

Linen frocks of more or less severity are made up in the very soft linen and in lovely colors. Very frequently the linen is used only for a skirt and an overblouse of some kind, while the long-sleeved underbody is of finest cotton voile or sheerest white linen. Russian blouse lines reappear insistently in these overblouses and in silk frock blouses, too.

There are many little plaited overblouses belted a trifle high, with very short frill ruffles, among the latest season models in crepe and soft silks and a popular little frock of this type is rose crepe. Its overblouse and skirt are entirely plaited in narrow box plaits, except where the fullness of the skirt is shirred in a hip yoke, to develop into box plaits below. The long sleeves are of rose chiffon and the chemise and high flaring collar frill of fine cream lace with a bow of smoke gray velvet to match the narrow ribbon girdle of gray velvet.

Boleto and Zouave Jackets. The boleto and zouave jackets, both usually becoming, are employed in many spring frocks. They are especially pretty when they are used in the frocks of net, organdie, batiste or other summer fabrics, for then they are usually elaborated with frilling or embroidery.

SERIOUS DROUTH BROKEN BY THURSDAY NIGHT RAIN.

"Fine, just right," say the farmers of Fulton county in general of the good, steady rain that fell Thursday night, putting an end to a drough which set in March 4. The shower extended all over the Purchase and was worth a $1,000 a minute.

According to the consensus of the opinion of a number of the prominent farmers of the county the rain came just in time to save the county from a disastrous drough. "Ten days more of the drough," said one leading farmer near the city, "and our crops would have been ruined." The rain came as a veritable God send to the farmers.

Wheat has already suffered to some extent, but is coming out wonderfully. Quite a bit of alfalfa has been cut in the bottom and was caught on the ground, but the loss from this source will be slight—very slight, compared with the benefits to other crops. In many instances planting was deferred until rain softened the ground. Now, practically everything is planted, and early stuff is looking fine.

BETTER EQUIPMENT WOULD REDUCE INSURANCE RATES.

A Mr. Triplett, of the Kentucky Actuarial Bureau, was here Friday for the purpose of taking up with Board of Aldermen the proposition of advancing Hickman from 4th to 4½ class, as regards fire insurance. This would mean a saving in fire insurance rates from 3 per cent on stock to 6 per cent on buildings, with possibly a 1½ saving on residence property.

To advance to this class, we must have some kind of combination fire engine (rebound), ladder and hose cart, together with an organized company of fire fighters, a central station, double opening on all fire hydrants and special fire alarm. The fire fighters should be organized in two companies of 10 members each, with a chief, the latter to receive a salary and look after all equipment.

The councilmen heard the recommendations, but as yet have taken no action in the matter. This will probably be threshed out at the next meeting.

JURY SELECTION LAW IS CHANGED.

The old statute permitting the selection of a new panel of a jury at the end of each week has been changed by the present law, which permits only the discharge of the first regular panel at the end of a week's service and this change was made to dispose of professional jurors, said the court of appeals.
